- Government Contracting VS Private Sales (pros and cons of both)
- How to impress decision makers/what not to do
- Advice on finding your niche

David Bunt

David Bunt is a Miami, FL native and has two business degrees, two master degrees, and completed educational programs with the U.S. Army Command General Staff College. Mr. Bunt is a decorated combat veteran who served on active duty in the Al Anbar Province of Iraq, Kandahar, Afghanistan, and Kabul, Afghanistan as a senior acquisition advisor and contracting officer to US Army, Marine, and Air Force general officers advising on and managing critical multi-million dollar humanitarian, construction, and security transition programs.

Mr. Bunt is currently the Anniston Army Depot’s Director of Contracting, but in the past served at the Holston Army Ammunition Plant, and as the Supervisory Contract Specialist with FEMA, responsible for managing the acquisition operations supporting the Hurricane Katrina and Rita recovery efforts, of which he was awarded a Congressional Letter of Commendation for his service. Besides the positions he has held with the Federal government and the military, Mr. Bunt has started several businesses from the ground up and turned them into multimillion dollar successes!

Mr. Bunt lives in Lincoln, AL on his farm with his wife Tammy and has two grown children, 2 grandchildren and another grandchild due in June 2018.
